County Unemployment Climbs In February; Jobless Benefits Down

By Lynn Mulvaney

KINGSTON

While Ulster County continues to have one of the highest jobless rates in the state, the number of persons receiving unemployment benefits is beginning to take a downswing.

To the surprise of almost no one, umemployment in Ulster County climbed 1.6 percen in February with a jobless rate of 11.4 percent compared to 10.8 percent in January and 7.2 percent a year ago.

Complete figures for the month of March are not available but are expected to be relaeased by the state about April 25.

The actual unemployed in the county in February reached 7,200 persons, up from 6,600 in January and considerable more than the 4,400 figure of a year ago February.

Meanwhile, the number of persons receiving unemployment benefits, has dropped from 6,075 at the end of February to 5,509 as of March 21 and 5,462 as of the week ending April 4.

This may be due to the fact that employment benefits have been exhausted by many individuals on regular, extended or emergency benefits, according to Robert Ziegler, employment security manager of the New York State Employment Office in Kingston. President Gerald Ford has extended emergency benefits however and as of the last week in March 752 Ulster County residents were receiving emergency aid.

Ziegler also reported that the once considerably overcrowded conditions at the employment office have lessened somewhat since the first of the year when alternate week reporting of the unemployed was instituted instead of weekly reporting.

Industrial Commissioner Louis L. Levine, head of the State Labor Department, said today that there were 690,339 persons claiming unemployment benefits under four separate programs in the state in the week ending March 21 as compared with 679,098 the previous week.

The statewide count in the week ending March 21 included 520,196 persons claiming regular unemployment insurance, as compared to 520,626 a week earlier and 325,890 a year ago.

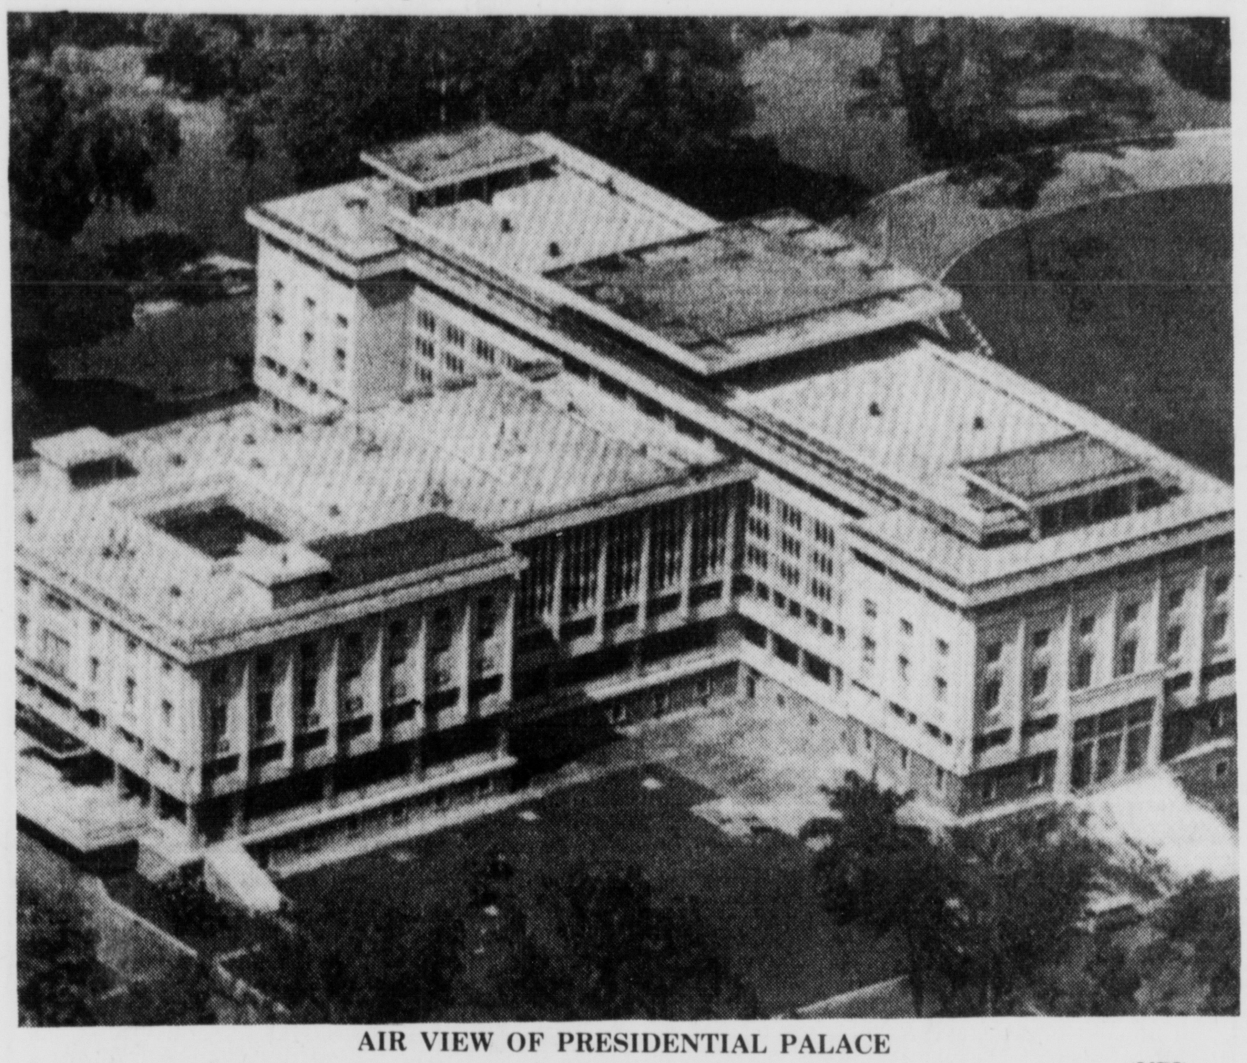
There were 43,846 persons filing new claims representing an increase of 755 from the level the previous week. A year ago, 34,107 new claims were taken.

Levine said the new benefit claims reflected fewer layoffs in manufacturing industries and general seasonal upturn in the economy.

There were 66,185 filings for extended benefits during the week ending March 21, by persons who had used up their 26 weeks of regular unemployment insurance. The previous week, 62,158 persons were registered for these benefits.

Some 92,915 claims for emergency benefits were taken during the week ending March 21, from jobless workers who had received both the regular and 13 weeks of extended benefits. The prior week, 84,923 persons were claiming emergency benefits.

There were also 11,043 claims for special unemployment assistance filed during the week ending March 21, by workers whose jobs had not been protected under the New York State unemployment insurance program. The number compares to 11,391 a week earlier.



AIR VIEW OF PRESIDENTIAL PALACE (UPI)

Presidential Palace Bombing Linked to Disgruntled Pilot

SAIGON (UPI) — A young South Vietnamese air force pilot returning from a combat mission bombed President Nguyen Van Thieu's presidential palace today in an apparent rage against Thieu's decision to give up much of South Vietnam without a fight.

Thieu and his family escaped unhurt but at least three other persons were killed and four wounded.

Thieu called the bombing an isolated attack aimed at killing him and said it was not an attempted military coup. He vowed to stay in office.

Authorities fearful that it was an attempted coup imposed a 24-hour curfew on the capital and airborne troops were placed on a special alert.

The curfew was lifted after six tense hours during which Saigon resembled a ghost town.

Rumors immediately linked Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, former premier and air force commander with the plot, but Ky was quick to deny responsibility. He did say in a statement issued through his office that Thieu should step down for the good of the country.

Military sources said the pilot, North Vietnamese-born Lt. Nguyen Thanh Trung, 26, may have landed his F5 Freedom Fighter somewhere in Communist territory and defected although his whereabouts remained a mystery tonight.

The sources said Trung's family was from the Da Nang area captured by the Communists 10 days ago and that he was furious over Thieu's tactics of abandoning the northern and central quarters of the country to the Communists without a fight.

Adopted Vietnamese children greeted by happy families. Story Page 16.

The bombing attack was reminiscent of a similar bombing attack by two South Vietnamese air force pilots in February, 1962. Their Skyraiders inflicted heavy damage on Independence Palace, but they failed in their efforts to kill President Ngo Dinh Diem, later overthrown and assassinated. That bombing also brought a 24-hour curfew and panic.

Thieu's statement denying an attempted coup was broadcast at frequent intervals tonight on Saigon television.

Secret Pacts Charged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., charged today the United States made secret agreements with South Vietnam that President Ford has only just discovered.

Jackson also accused Ford of blaming the Congress for reneging on agreements that it has "never heard of." He called on Ford to tell Americans now of any such agreements that have been kept under wraps.

In a Senate speech, Jackson said he has been reliably informed that the United States and South Vietnam made "secret agreements, which envision fateful American decisions, yet whose very existence has never been acknowledged."

Challenged by freshman Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., to be more specific, Jackson replied, "I have it on the best of information, the best authority, that secret agreements were reached."

Then he said of Ford, "I think he has only recently found out about these accords."

Asked by Morgan to disclose the nature of the agreements before the Senate, Jackson said it would be possible only by calling a hearing and putting administration officials under oath.

"But shouldn't these be provided voluntarily?" Jackson asked.

"We in Congress cannot play our constitutional role in constructing a coherent foreign policy so long as information to which we are entitled is kept from us."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield rejected Jackson's charge.

"I know of no secret agreement," Mansfield said. "Every time we met with Mr. (Secretary of State Henry) Kissinger after one of his visits and journeys overseas, that question was asked and the answer was always 'no.'"

He said if any substantial evidence came up on secret agreements, "I would expect the appropriate (congressional) committees to look into any breaches of faith or trust."

"The President has said several times there would be no intervention and I believe him," Mansfield added.

Jackson said that although Americans often disagree about Vietnam, "We can agree on one essential point: the foreign policy of a democracy cannot successfully be transacted through secret agreements...

"The essential first step is for the President to act now — without further delay — in making a full and complete disclosure. We have to know where we stand."

Meanwhile, Congress has returned from its 10day Easter recess in a mood to provide emergency assistance for South Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees, but apparently still reluctant to vote military aid.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, DMass., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on refugees, scheduled hearings later today on a measure to provide $100 million speedily for the refugees of the two war-torn countries.

Secrecy Surrounds Firemanic Meeting

By Hugh Reynolds

KINGSTON

A cloak of secrecy surrounds a special meeting between the city's paid and volunteer fire forces called by the Board of Fire Commissioners and Mayor Francis R. Koenig Monday night at the municipal auditorium.

"I can have no comment on what happened," Koenig said in response to Freeman inquiries today. "We covered a lot of topics. I want to review the minutes (of the meeting) before making any comment."

The first thing the mayor and the commissioners did, just before the two-hour meeting got underway, was to evict R. Bruce McLean, a captain with Wicks Hose who was suspended by the mayor and the board for making statements the board considered detrimental to the fire department.

The meeting, called by former Chief Robert L. Maines as his last official act before his resignation last month, invited the executive board of Kingston Professional Fire Fighter's Local 461 and the presidents and captains of the city's eight volunteer fire companies.

McLean appeared as captain (second ranking officer) of Wicks. He lasted about 30 seconds—before Mayor Koenig ordered him out of the meeting. Koenig said today that he was acting on the orders of the Fire Board which he said had decided that McLean as a suspended member of the fire department, would not be allowed to attend. Wicks President Harry Lowe protested, to no avail. Wicks First Lieutenant Fred Berger was called in to represent the fire company.

There were about 30 men at the "executive session" where Koenig barred press coverage. He gave no reason for the press ban other than the meeting being an "executive session."

Most of the issues covered have been aired publicly before.

The contingent from Local 461, led by its President, Ernest Renn, again proposed that the voulunteer fire companies be consolidated to provide more efficient service.

The plan, as outlined by the union, would call for the combination of Cordts Hose and Union Hose, the transfer of Rapid Hose from its Hone Street firehouse to the paid station on Meadow Street and the transfer of Excelsior Hose from its fire station on Hurley Avenue to the Wicks firehouse on Wiltwyck Avenue.

The plan would also reduce the number of "active volunteers" in each of the consolidated fire statons to no more than 20. Figures vary on the number of "active volunteers" at present but Wicks Hose, the largest company, claims between 35 and 40.

The paid men offered figures to show that it cost the city $9,150 to operate its volunteer fire department. They said their plan would cost just under $5,400. Volunteers point out that it costs in excess of $10,000 to employ one paid man.

There were also reports, following the meeting, that Robert Gollnick, former president of Local 461, may be brought up on charges by the fire commission on much the same grounds as McLean, to wit, statements detrimental to the fire department.

Gollnick, at a press conference last month, in response to McLean's charges that he and Koenig had been "protecting" former Chief Maines, stated that his wife had received harassing telephone calls from "volunteers."

Koenig also refused to comment on that report.

The fire board, recessed because Koenig was in Florida last Tuesday (on its regular meeting night) will meet tonight in regular session.

Orders of New Mayor in Ellenville

Police Chief, Manager Must Walk

By Tim Schuster

ELLENVILLE

The men you will see walking the streets of Ellenville in the near future will include the chief of police and the village manager.

Sweeping clean as a new broom is reputed to do, Mayor Jerome Elkin took a hard line at this village's reorganization meeting Monday night in ordering the police department to relinquish three of its five patrol cars and the water department to sell one of its vehicles.

The alternative to cruising the streets will be pounding the beat with shoe leather.

Elkin launched into his carefully planned recommendations ("It took me three weeks to put this plan together") that included the following changes: no more pick up and delivery of police officers for personal reasons, with "police vehicles no longer to be used as a private taxi service for the convenience of police officers."

—"No more coffee breaks at our local eating establishments" by police, who must henceforth bring a thermos. "I do not want to ever again see an Ellenville Police car parked in front of a diner, or a garage, or any place else except on official business," said Elkin.

—"I wnat to see the chief of police wear his unifrom to work and walk a beat throughout the central part of our village every day that he is on duty,"said the mayor, adding that he wanted foot patrols by police on a non-scheduled regular basis.

And in other police department matters, Elkin called for elimination of the detective division's unmarked car, as everyone knew it anyway; wanted all photography work done by police instead of contracting it out; all police shifts will be rotated; all moonlighting jobs must be apporved by the village board. There are 20 men in the department.

Declaring his "number one priority" to drive hard drug pushers out of the village, Elkin commented, "Any 16-year-old high school kid can tell you where to buy heroin. I am told that some hard drug pushers have been using the same locations for months and even years."

Elkin prefaced his remarks by stating. "Our nation is in a recession and, sorrowfully, our village is in a depression. Saving money was his primary reason for most of the changes outlined.

The new mayor said he would like to see the village manager "get out of his office and make a daily walk throughout the village," adding he realized the importance of paperwork, "but I also realize the importance of meeting and speaking to people." The manager's car will be sold.

It appears that some village employes will have to go.

"There are too many people working in village hall," said Elkin. "We must let some of them go and we must ask those that remain to work harder."

Promising to further detail these plans in the near future, the mayor added, "suffice to say there will be no more sitting around and reading newspapers during regular working hours. I'm sure there will be enough work around for those remaining."

In the street department, Elkin wants the street sweeper out every working day; the street superintendent to set up a priority list for repair work; and he wants no trees cut down until approved by the board.

And he advised, "I do not want to ever see a village owned truck delivering cut fire wood to any private residence again . . . Share and share alike, on a first come first served basis."

Elkin made another promise, that meetings will be frequent and executive sessions will be kept to an absolute minimum, only for personnel and budget matters. "If you have anything to say, say it here where it should be said," he told trustees.

The mayor said he will be at the village hall every Saturday morning for residents' ideas and grievances.

Some appontments made by the board: James Murray, village attorney; Lillian Finkelstein reappointed village clerk; Joseph Galanduik, treasurer; Joseph Friedman, acting village justice; and George Hadley, dog warden.

Of the future, Elkin commented, "This will not be a popularity contest —I know what this job entails and I have been looking forward to starting . . . There is no greater honor than serving as mayor of your own home town."

Polacco, Jr. wear respectively the former and current uniforms of the Kingston Police Department. The change from the Navy blue uniform to the French blue uniform was made to modernize the uniforms and present a better appearance to the public, according to Police Chief Julius M. Glassman. The men began wearing the new uniforms March 30. (Freeman photo)

25-Year Prison Term Possible

Guilty Plea Entered in Burglary Case

KINGSTON

One of two young Town of Esopus men who allegedly burglarized and ransacked a Port Ewen dentist's home and office last December causing thousands of dollars in damage, pleaded guilty Monday in Ulster County Court to a two-count indictment.

George Longendyke, 23, of Sleightsburgh, represented by Kingston attorney John E. Gotelli, pleaded guilty to first degree burglary —a charge mandating a prison sentence and which carries a possible maximum sentence of 25 years in prison—and second degree criminal mischief.

Judge Raymond J. Mino adjourned sentencing until May 21.

Longendkye and Albert Latorre Jr., 20, of New Salem were arrested Dec. 14, 1974 by state police during the alleged burglary at the home and office of Dr. and Mrs. William Harris, 213 Broadway, Port Ewen. Damage to the home and office at the time of arrest was estimated unofficailly as high as $50,000.

Longendyke and Latorre were indicted in January for the alleged burglary committed while the Harrises were vacationing in Florida.

Latorre also appeared in court Monday , with his attorney, Robert L. Ricken, requesting that he be released in his own recognizance. Judge Mino, however, denied the motion and instead revoked the bail previously set in town court ($100,000), ordering Latorre held without bail. Judge Mino set April 21 as the date for Latorre's trial.

In other action in county court Monday:

• Judge Mino sentenced Amos Perry of Highland to a term of two to four years at Clinton Correctional Facility in Dannemora. Perry, represented by Attorney Willaim Gruner, previously pleaded guilty to second degree criminal possession of stolen property in connection with burglaries early last year. Due to a prior felony conviction, state law mandated a prison sentence for Perry.

• Robert L. Parks, 26, of Rona Park, Calif., withdrew a previous plea of innocent and pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with attempted robbery in the third degree. Parks was arrested last December after he allegedly walked into an Ellenville diner and demanded money, claiming to have a bomb in a suitcase he was carrying. The suitcase contained no bomb, police said. Judge Mino set sentencing for May 21.

Numerous arraignments also took place Monday in county court, with innocent pleas being entered by defendants.

It's Oscar Time In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Competiton for the Oscars tonight in the 47th Annual Academy Awards presentations is a three-way race for both best actress and best actor awards.

Favored to win for best actor are Al Pacino (The Godfather Part II), Dustin Hoffman (Lenny) and Jack Nicholson (Chinatown).

Also in the running were Art Carney (Harry and Tonto) and Albert Finney (Murder on the Orient Express).

Leading the race for best actress of 1974 are Faye Dunaway (Chinatown), Gena Rowlands (A Woman Under the Influence) and Helen Burstyn (Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore).

Valerie Perrine (Lenny) and Diahann Carroll (Claudine) were also nominated.

"Chinatown" and "The Godfather Part II," each with 11 nominations, were expected to win most of the awards in the 21 categories at the Los Angeles Music Center during the 2½-hour show (NBC 10 p.m. EDT).

The other three nominated pictures were "The Conversation," "Lenny" and "The Towering Inferno."

Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, Sammy Davis Jr. and Shirley MacLaine are hosting the ceremonies. Nominated songs will be sung by Jack Jones, Aretha Franklin and Frankie Laine.

Arriving early for their chores as presenters of the golden statuettes were Raquel Welch, John Wayne, Gene Kelly, Diahann Carroll, Peter Falk, Goldie Hawn, Glenda Jackson, Jack Lemmon, Lauren Bacall and Danny Thomas.

Two oldtimers, Fred Astaire (Towering Inferno) and Ingrid Bergman (Murder on the Orient Express) were favored to win the awards for best supporting players.

Also contending for best supporting actress were Valentina Cortese (Day for Night), Madeline Kahn (Blazing Saddles), Diane Ladd (Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore) and Talia Shire (The Godfather Part II).

Nominated with Astaire for best supporting actor were Jeff Bridges (Thunderbolt and Lightfoot) and a trio of actors from "The Godfather Part II," Robert De Niro, Michael V. Gazzo and Lee Strasberg.

National Weather . . . A Little of Everything

By UPI

Tornadoes, a sandstorm, rain and hail plagued the Texas Panhandle Monday, a foot of snow was dumped on Arizona's Hawley Lake in the White Mountains, and officials began moving mobile homes into Warren County, Mississippi, to provide relief for flood victims.

The foot of snow at Arizona's Hawley Lake did not affect many persons because the lake is a summer recreation area. However, the National Weather Service warned of possible frost during the night in some fruit growing areas of the state, which could cause losses to agricultural interests.

The weather service said a severe blizzard was expected to continue today in Montana and Wyoming, where heavy snows fell Monday. Six inches or more of snow was expected to fall in Montana east of the Continental Divide, complicated by winds of up to 50 miles per hour.

A tornado near Pep, Tex., Monday knocked over farm buildings and ripped the roof of a local church. At Lubbock, Tex., winds gusted to 60 m.p.h. and several funnel clouds were sighted by residents. Funnel clouds also were reported near Canyon, Tex., but there were no reports of damage or injuries.

The worst damage at Lubbock was caused by a sandstorm that preceded the twisters, rain and hail which swept the area.

The Texas storms were touched off by a blustery cold front that entered the western part of the state. A freeze warning was issued for southwest Texas as overnight temperatures plunged below 30 degrees in the mountains.

Tornado watches continued today in the high plains of Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Stockmen's warnings — particularly aimed at ranchers and farmers who are playing midwives to a new crop of calves and lambs — were up in the Dakotas.

'Just Wanted Attention'. . . Tennessee Inmates

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The leader of 11 prisoners who held 12 hostages in a Tennessee State Prison counseling office for eight hours Monday said the group was just trying to get attention to air their grievances.

"We weren't trying to take over the prison," Dock Walker told a news conference called at the prisoners' request. "We were just trying to get some consideration."

Walker and 10 other maximum security inmates stormed into the counseling office complex Monday morning and held four counselors and eight other prisoners at knifepoint behind barricaded doors while they bargained with state corrections officials.

The hostages were released unharmed about 5:00 p.m. after Corrections Commissioner Herman Yeatman agreed to set up a committee, including inmate members, to investigate a list of 12 grievances.

Yeatman made the decision after conferring with the governor's office and the prison warden.

High on the list of complaints, which included such items as poor food and recreation facilities, were demands for an end to alleged harassment of prisoners by guards, and review of prisoners kept in isolation.

"We just want to be treated like men," said Gabe Sims, who is serving a 75-year murder term. "There has been so much harassment going on we felt we had to do something before it got too hot."

No Clerical Garb For Priest-Lawyer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Roman Catholic priest working as a Legal Aid Society lawyer has been barred by an appeals court from appearing before a jury in clerical garb.

The Appellate Division of State Supreme Court in Brooklyn ruled Monday that the Rev. Vincent La Rocca's attire could influence a jury and the witnesses.

The majority opinion in the 3-1 decision held that the "petitioner's attire at the trial would undoubtedly affect the witnesses and the spectators. Witnesses for the prosecution, especially the complaining witnesses, might question whether the scales of justice had not been tipped by the petitioner's presence."

The decision overturned a ruling in favor of the priest by Supreme Court Justice Guy Mangano.

La Rocca, who has been a priest for 25 years, was assigned as an attorney for Cecelia Daniels, a defendant in a criminal trial. But, Judge Morgan Lane upheld prosecution objections to his appearing before a jury in clerical garb.

Justice J. Irwin Shapiro said, in dissenting, that his sympathies were with the majority but that federal and state constitutional guarantees on religious freedom required his dissent.

Justice James Hopkins wrote the majority opinion. Justices Henry Latham and M. Henry Martuscello concurred.

Seniors Dinner Filled

KINGSTON

Having exceeded the 700 mark, reservations for the Senior Citizen Spring Festival Dinner Saturday at the Municipal Auditorium, have been closed, according to an announcement made by Alexander Yosman, coordinator of the Senior Citizens's Advisory Council.

For the past eight years the dinner has been sponsored by Ulster and Kingston Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the council.

This year, Dennis Noonan, president of Ulster Kiwanis expressed his regrets that reservations had to be closed because the club "is a small club and does not have the resources to accommodate more than 700 senior citizens."

Noonan said he will discuss with Yosman the possibility of accommodating a larger number of persons at future dinners.

How Nutrition Labeling Can Help You

Though packages of some foods have provided facts on their nutritional composition for many years, most have not. During 1973, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration issued regulations for Nutrition Labeling, seeking to encourage many food manufacturers to provide such information on nutrients.

The goal is to provide nutrient information in the same form on many foods. This information can help you:

* become more aware of key nutrients needed for good nutrition and health.
* recognize the specific nutrients present in individual foods.
* compare the nutritive values and relative costs of different foods.
* select foods for the whole day that in total will supply the recommended amounts of vital nutrients.

At A&P we are including this nutrition information on many of our private label products. Look for it and start to use it.

Kingston Hospital Submits $19.6 Million Facility Proposal

KINGSTON

Kingston Hospital has taken the first formal step toward building a new $19.6 millin health care facility on land near Sawkill Road and the New York State Thruway traffic circle.

The Northern Metropolitan Health and Hospital Council, Inc. (NMHHC) has announced that Kingston Hospital has submitted its relocation proposal for review and comment. The hospital's proposed construction plans are to be considered by NMHHC this month.

At the same time, the local hospital has submitted plans for conversion of the old plant on Broadway into a nursing home.

NMHHC, a voluntary nonprofit planning agency, has jurisdiction over any health care projects—including construction, renovation and additions of hospitals—in the seven county northern metropolitan area. Any such projects must first be reviewed by NMHHC before the New York State Commissioner of Health either approves or rejects the propasals.

When NMHHC completes its sutdy of Kingston Hospital's relocation plans, it will forward its recommendations to the New York State Health Advisory Board. The state advisory board will likewise study the hospital's building plans before referring the matter for a final determination to the state health department.

Kingston Hospital Administrator Anthony R. Triulzi said Monday that it would be "premature" at this point to project a possible starting date for construction of the new facility. He said he doesn't expect NMHHC's report to come out until May.

But Triulzi did state that he doesn't envision any difficulty in gaining a favorable recommendation from the planning agency. "We have spent $36,000 on a study that confirms our own recommendations," he said, "that any continued investment on our existing site would not be practical."

The present location of Kingston Hospital, according to views expressed by the hospital's board of directors, virtually precludes any significant expansion of facilities and services. Parking has been cited as a particular problem, and the inability of the hospital to expand to adjoining property now occupied by the old city hal prompted the search for a new site.

According to information that the hospital supplied to NMHHCc the proposed new facility in the Town of Ulster will cost an estimated $19,671,300. Kingston Hospital has proposed that the new facility contain an extra six medical/surgical beds, bringing total capacity in that area to 158 beds. At the same time, the hospital proposes elimination of 10 pediatric beds, reducing to 20 the number of beds proposd for that department at the new facility.

Once the new facility is built and occupied the hospital proposes that the existing bulding be converted into a "long-term care facility" (nursing home), with a capacity of 100 nursing home beds and 50 health related facility beds. The estimated cost of the proposed conversion is $1,630,000.

The total cost for both projects has been set at $21,301,300.

Lt. Gov. Discusses Future

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The comments of Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupsak to a gathering of Democratic women Monday did little to stifle speculation that her boss, Hugh L. Carey, might have a big part to play in the 1976 national election.

"We are developing a model," Miss Krupsak said. "It is going to be the basis, not only for a realization of the dreams of our own state, but once again to set the pattern for a 1976 national election."

She was addressing about 400 members of the state Democratic party's women's division.

Another comment called to mind a former New York governor and his wife who went from Albany to Washington:

"Eleanor Roosevelt, as much as Franklin Roosevelt, helped to back up those kinds of things that were called experiments, but went on to Washington to be an example for the rest of the country."

She said the Carey-Krupsak model would serve as "an agenda for our times which will change the priorities of our time to make sure that human dignity is in the front and foremost of our priorities."

"We can afford it in this state if we eliminate those wasteful things in this state," she said, "and we can do it if somebody gives a damn, and I do."

Miss Krupsak said as a result of an assignment she was given by Carey, she had investigated the State Commerce Department and "we were able to come up with savings of 20 per cent right in that department by just cutting the fat ... that needs to be reduced and eliminated from the state government."

"We will do that right across every department of state government and when we are finished with our timetable, 12 months or 18 months from now, you will see the trust develop for those kinds of services that have been neglected," the lieutenant governor said.

The objective of the administration is to provide the "human services" that make "a better life for all, where ever they are living."

"They call it welfare when it's for private citizens," she said, "and it's something else when it's for private corporations."

As soon as the legislative session is over "I'm going to travel across this state and continue to work with you as we have in the past to identify how we can be more productive without strapping the taxpayers," she promised.

Koenig's Veto

Mayor Francis Koenig's veto of the old city hall resolutuon was the only correct thing to do. As passed by the common council, the public would have been presented with a proposal that was so poorly worded as to cause total confusion. It read " Shall the old city hall building located at 408 Broadway, County of Ulster and State of New York, be renovated as a landmarks preservation site at an approximate cost of $1,500,000 with the alternative to such renovation being to otherwise dispose of such land and structure, without limitation or restriction."

Now that's the type of Stenglese that simply could not have been placed before the voters in a special referendum. It was simply a case of being dammed if you do, and damned if you don't. The mayor made it clear in his veto message that he wasn't opposed to the fate of the old city hall being determined by refeaendum, but even he must have been confused by this bit of deathless prose offered by the councilmen.

Now the ball is back in their hands. They could possibly get their backs up and decide to override Koenig's veto, but our advice to them is to come up with a resolution that is clear and not obfuscated.

Energy Reduction

It is too soon for dancing in the streets to celebrate the decline in United States energy consumption. Still, the 2.2 per cent reduction from 1973 to 1974 is headed the way we must go if our society is to master the energy problems that will increasingly confront it from now on.

The most important question now is whether the present downward trend will continue. The factors instrumental in last year's decline were a combination that may never occur again; indeed, we hope they won't.

Five chief elements in the reduction are cited by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton. These are the Arab oil embargo higher energy prices, the general economic slowdown, a relatively mild winter, and conservation efforts. No one wants another oil embargo; certainly curbing energy use via recession is nothing we want to see repeated. Winter weather is undependable; next winter mwy be fierce, and send demand skyrocketing.

The most heartening point in Morton's summing up is that efforts to conserve energy paid off to some extent. The impact of this is hard to assess, since so many factors are involved. But it is good to know that Americans in some measure improved the national energy picture by driving slower, turning their thermostats lower in winter and higher in summer, making more use of mass transit, and so on. This must be the pattern of the future — and on a much larger scale. Wise utilization of resources is the key.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Coal Prices May Be Artifically Rigged

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—A confidential economic study of the coal industry suggests that prices have been artificailly inflated to swell profits.

The study points out that coal prices have shot up an incredible 282 percent since 1955—far beyond anything that can be attributed to wage increases, mining costs, safety regulatuons, short supply or other factors.

Although it is "virtually impossible to prove conclusively that coal companies have entered into a conspiracy to raise prices and limit output," states report, the findings "are entirely consistant" with this conclusion.

The report therefore strongly urges "an investigation of the coal industry with respect to pricing and supply."

The coal study was conducted by George Washington University economists James Barth and James Bennett for the American Public Power Association, National Rural Elecrtic Cooperative Association and othe r consumers groups.

When they presented their findings to the Justice Department, according to a confidential memo on the meeting, antitrust official George Hay dismissed the conclusions as "a bunch of crap."

This attidtude has led Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, a power on the House Judiciary Committee, to complain directly to Attorney General Edward Levi.

Citing the study, Seiberling contended in a private letter to Levi that the coal industry should get the same scrutiny that a Justice Department task force is now giving the oil combines.

"The price situation in the coal industry is, if anything more serious," wrote Seiberling.

Indeed, there is a relationship between the two industries. The report describes how the oil companies have moved quietly into the coal business. The top 15 coal companies, the report declares, now control about half of th nations production . Four of the 15 are owned by oil companies.

What this means, explains the study, is that technological advances in coal are often controlld by firms whose principal product competes with coal as an energy source.

"Stated another way, the greater the level of concentration, the more likely one is to find attempts to coordinate price and output policy to achieve monoply profits," warns the study.

Companies like Exxon now contol billions of tons of coal reserves through subsidiary companies. This growing influence over the coal market by "competing" industries demands some kind of antitrust review, contends the report.

Supporting their suspicions, the researchers note that coal production has remained almost stable while prices have soared. The end of price controls in 1973, for example, was followed by an "extraordinary rate of price increase." Typical examples :

-The small town of Marshfield, Wis ., was notified by the giant Peabody Coal Company that coal for the local electric utility would have to be raised from $9 to $15.50 a ton in one jump.

—The town of Wallington, Conn., was told the same coal, which cost $14.75 a ton in June , 1973, would cost $29.50 a ton in April 1974. Similar complaints have come in from towns all over the counrty. Yet by earlier estimates, the price of coal wasn't supposed to reach even $13.37 a ton until the year 2000.

Meanwhile, coal production strangely has been slipping in some areas. "With rapid price increases," suggests the study, "one would expect a firm . . . to expand output . . . When this doesn't happen, the evidence may suggest an explicit or implicit agreement to limit output, further driving up prices and, thereby profits."

Prices have also outstripped wages. Although wages increased by 53 percent between 1967 and 1973, prces for all coals except anthracite soared well over 100 percent. "An eight percent rise in wages between 1970 and 1971," adds the report, " was associated with a 33 percent change in prices."

The report also dismisses company claims that mine safety standards have run up coal prices. Safety costs have added no more than 40 cents to the price of a ton of coal, the researchers found. In any event, this would be "a one-time increase and would , therefore, not explain the continuing increase in the price of coal."

Conclusion the study: "An environment exists in the market for coal which makes collusion possible and desirable in order to increase profits."

Footnote: A coal industry spokesman vigorously denied there is any price fixing. He pointed out that 3,000 to 4,000 separate coal companies are scattered around the country, with about 50 in the "major" category. The study contends, however that 15 firms virtually control the industry.

At the Just ice Department, George Hay refused to comment on why he called the study "a bunch of crap." Other sources have confirmed that Justice has shown no eagerness to investigate the coal industry, although the Federal Trade Commission is more interested.

Indifference to Portugal's Drift to the Left

By William F. Buckley Jr.

The incapacitation of our Central Intelligence Agency is a matter of concern for those who think about the problems of the day after tomorrow — for instance, about the disintegration of NATO and what that would mean; for instance, about the loss of the Azores. A great deal has been said about this curious paralysis that is setting in on American foreign policy. Did you know that as things now stand, no covert action of any significance can be taken without the written — yes, written — authorization of the President, and without communicating the nature of the enterprise to 50, yes 50, Congressmen and Senators? As well announce the enterprise at a press conference.

Consider Portugal. The Communists there are playing a game both sly and obvious. Already, they have simply eliminated from effective participation the parties on the moderate right, and center. The ballot-counting will be done by Communist agents, and what we shall probably see is not a Communist coup of the Czechoslovakian kind, though that would be easy to arrange as things are going, but a Communist-oriented government dominated ostensibly by the military, though actually by the Communist Party.

Now this is something that need not, actually, be. That is to say, dispassionate soundings of Portuguese opinion suggest that in a genuinely free, contested election, the Communists would win something on the order of ten per cent of the vote. To use the popular phrase of the day, should we conclude that the 90 per cent do not have "the will to resist?" I invite you, with all the will in the world to resist, to go and stage a pro-democratic rally in Lisbon these days. You need not only the will to resist, but something on the order of physical immortality.

Under normal, healthy circumstances, the Central Intelligence Agency would, behind the scenes, be active in helping the democratic forces in Portugal. How? Well, let's think. What's the stuff of revolution, before the jackbooted men take final control? Television. Radio. Pamphlets. Newspapers. These are almost impossible to maintain in Portugal given the harassment by the Communists. Under the circumstances, true friends of Portugal would undertake to help. By, for instance, getting the printing done, delivering the papers to specified points, helping with the distribution. What you need, primarily, is cash, and facilities. That and, a sense of fraternity with other people in the world who identify themselves with your struggle.

The internal preoccupations of Europe have been much written about. But it seems incredible that there should be so little expressed concern over what is happening in Portugal. I. have a feeling I know the psychological causes of it.

Many Europeans are indulging themselves in a retroactive pout over the long dominance of Salazar. I can hear the boulevardiers of Paris saying it: "Why should we concern ourselves over the loss of Portuguese freedom? They haven't had any freedom in a generation. They don't know what it's like. If they could live for so long under a Facist, why not let them live for a while under the Communists?"

What's wrong with that statement is several things. 1) It is wrong to seek to punish a whole people because they were punished before. If a man is detected, forgotten at Devil's Island for 20 years, it is not appropriate to say: let him continue to live there another 20 years. 2) The difference between life under Salazar and life under a Communist dictator is qualitatively huge, if you attach any importance at all to, say, freedom of religion, freedom of emigration, freedom of movement, freedom to change one's job, freedom to join a union, freedom to read books of one's choice, freedom to non-political justice by the courts.

But most importantly, 3) Salazar was an indigenous despot. He came to power at a moment when Portugal was deep in anarchy. He never attempted to export his rule: Mozambique and Angola had been Portuguese forever, and on the day he died, Portugal did not lay claim to an inch of territory it hadn't had when Salazar came in.

By contrast, the Communists are unabashedly in league with Communists the world over, most particularly the Soviet Union. Their aim is to neutralize NATO, and perhaps by the exercise of just a little restraint, overcome that lingering fear of Communist rule in Italy and France where the huge Communists parties are restrained by that well-grounded fear that they would go too far if in power.

Where, then, are the brigades? Where are the expressions of support for the democratic groups in Portugal? Or is it assumed that the problem will be left to Spain: to send in, at the margin, a military detachment to abort a Communist take-over? How lonely it is, nowadays, to be afloat in the world, desiring freedom for yourself, and help from those who have it.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

The Merry Pranksters of the FBI

WASHINGTON — "Set forth below is a proposed anonymous letter . . . errors in spelling are intentional," says the FBI memorandum from its San Francisco office to "the seat of government," as the Bureau rather grandly refers to this collection of marble filing cases on the Potomac.

In due course, the seat of government countermemoed that, "Authority is granted for you to prepare and then anonymously mail the letter . . . to Sam Jordan who is running for the office of Mayor of San Francisco as an independent Negro candidate . . . The letter should be handwritten on a cheap grade of tablet paper and contain the spelling errors set out in the sample . . . The letter has definite disruptive potential . . ."

These two bits of administrative incunabula have been coughed up into the light of public scrutiny as the result of a suit filed by the Socialist Workers Party charging the FBI with years of harassment against it. The evidence extracted from the Bureau's file by court order ought to satisfy any reasonable person the charges are true, but what state of mind led the FBI to turn into evil Merry Pranksters?

The Socialist Workers Party hasn't been a significant force since the late 1930s. In that era, under the leadership of Farrel Dobbs, Vincent Dunne and Carl Skoglund, three long-forgotten heroes of the labor movement, the party achieved some power and prominence in the upper Midwest by its work organizing men in the trucking industry.

In the early 1940s, the top leadership was convicted for violating the Smith Act, which meant they shot their seditious mouths off once too often. That's what happens to political nonconformists when they get a public following, but this act of suppression was successful in driving the party from the streets into a minor place in the history books.

The Socialist Workers are a Communist party; however, since their household divinity is Leon Trotsky, their relations with the Communist Party and the Ruskies have always been that of open warefare. Thus the FBI had no reason to freak over them, but even those considerations belong in the past.

Today the Socialist Workers Party has no connection with the labor movement or any other power base. It has a reputation of being peopled by hard-working, if pedantic, young middle-class Marxists whose rights are easier to defend than their speeches are to listen to. Their estimated total membership is a measly 3,000 ardent souls.

Why they and their friends should be bedeviled by federally deputized sneaks and snitches surpasses paranoia. Yet, stacks of memos, written on paper which says, "Buy U.S. Savings Bonds Regularly on the Payroll Savings Plan," are the evidence of the millions of dollars and man hours devoted to the bureaucratization of nasty tricks.

There was, for example, the campaign to deprive one Walter Elliott, whose wife was a party member although he wasn't, of his unpaid job as a Boy Scout master. "In November, 1967," one of the memos tells us, "the organizer of the Newark Branch of the Socialists Workers Party was overheard to tell Elliott that he should quit fooling around with the Scouts and join the Party."

On that, at least, the party and the FBI agreed, because the Bureau began a search to find out which Boy Scout troop this Elliott, who seems to have been a Chevrolet salesman, belonged to. At length the monster was identified as "the Scoutmaster of Troop 339, BSA, at Park Avenue School, Orange, N.J."

Next come a flurry of memos discussing how they were going to alert National Scout Headquarters to the dangers threatening Troop 339. It is decided that Boy Scout officialdom is sufficiently finky to permit an agent to make an approach personally without fear that the Scouts might peach on the Bureau and tell Elliott that his government had chosen him for special distinction.

Later memos in the series indicate some unknown scout or officials joined in this despicable act of patriotism, for the last document in the series has an FBI agent writing his boss that, "It is felt that ELLIOTT's removal from the scouting program, where he would have a strong influence in shaping the minds of young boys, reflects the successful application of the disruption program for a worthy cause."

Buy a U.S. Savings Bond and help get the Chevrolet salesman out of scouting. Pollute bodies, not minds, and watch your tax dollars at work.

Lee Elder at Augusta: I Want to Be Left Alone

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Lee Elder says he will break his self-imposed silence this afternoon and tell how it feels to be the first black golfer to appear in the Masters.

Elder arrived Monday afternoon at the Augusta National and was swamped by requests for interviews.

"I'm not talking," said Elder. "Everytime I talk, I get into trouble."

But Rose Elder, Lee's wife and business manager, said her husband would hold a news conference at 3 p.m. EDT today.

"Lee feels that this is the only fair way," said Mrs. Elder. "Lee's serious about not talking. He's here to play golf and he wants to be left alone. He figures that the best way to handle the situation is to meet with all the news media at one time and then hope they'll let him get on with his golf."

Never mind that many of the world's finest golfers are here this week. The big interest at the moment is the 40-year-old Elder, who broke a long Masters tradition when he won at Pensacola, Fla., last April and earned a Masters berth.

"You can't imagine the demands that have been made on his time since he won at ensacola," said Mrs. Elder, "especially since about the first of the year. Day or night, it's made no difference. I really don't know what else he can say. At one time or another he must have talked about every possible angle anyone can think of."

If Elder weren't in his unique position, he'd probably attract little attention here because his play since winning at Pensacola indicates he won't be in contention for the Masters title.

The favorite is Jack Nicklaus. But Nicklaus, who skipped the Greater Greensboro Open to get in four days of practice here last week, wasn't present Monday. He had gone home for the weekend and was scheduled back today.

Nicklaus, four-time Masters champ and winner in his last two tournament appearances (Doral Open and Heritage Classic), is rated a 4-1 favorite to make this year's Masters his 15th "major" title.

Other leading contenders include defending champion Gary Player, the little South African who is the only foreigner ever to win in the Masters (he also won here in 1961); Heritage runnerup and Greensboro winner Tom Weiskopf, who tied for second in both the 1972 and 1974 Masters; and Johnny Miller, leading money winner this year and last.

"I feel my game is rounding back into shape," said Miller, who tied for sixth at Greensboro after missing the cut for the first time in 35 tournaments the previous week in the Heritage.

Miller had not intended to play at Greensboro but changed his mind after his poor showing the previous week.

"I'd have taken the week off and rested up," said the 27-year-old star who has won 11 tournaments and $470,000 the past 15 months. "I know Jack (Nicklaus) has had a lot of success coming in here early, but I figure I really know the course and don't see that I'd gain anything by playing it a week ahead of time."

Arnold Palmer, the only other golfer besides Nicklaus to win four Masters titles, came to Augusta buoyed by his 66 in the final round at Greensboro, but was muttering about his play in Monday's practice round.

The Masters, the first of the top four golf tournaments each year (the others are the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA), begins Thursday.

When Elder refused to talk Monday, his Masters caddie, Henry Brown, moved into the spotlight.

Brown, a 36-year-old scratch golfer who is working his 12th Masters, had been asking to be Elder's caddie since 1971. He was Roberto de Vicenzo's caddie for 10 years including 1968 when the Argentine golfer threw away the Masters crown by signing an incorrect scorecard. Last year he caddied for Art Wall, the aging former Masters champ (1959).

"Each year, I'd go in and ask that if Lee Elder made it to the Masters that I be assigned as his caddie," said Brown. "I read the newspapers and watch on television and I figured he was the black golfer with the best chance of making it to the Masters.

"I don't know how Lee Elder will do out there this week," said Brown "But I'm going to help him all I can. He won't be outcaddied."

This year's Masters field includes 54 U.S. professionals, seven U.S. amateurs and 17 foreign pros. That totals up to one less than played in last year's Masters.

Nolan Ryan Picks Up Where He Left Off

By UPI

Nolan Ryan of the California Angels has started the 1975 season the way he ended the 1974 campaign: blazing.

And the same can be said for the Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers, whose opening game struggle in Cincinnati Monday promised the knockdown and drag-out battle the experts have predicted for the National League West.

As for the Montreal Expos and Houston Astros — they opened their seasons with key players they touted in the spring playing big roles in their victories.

The season is officially underway but it's still spring with all its hopes for the Angels, Reds, Expos and Astros.

Ryan, who pitched a no-hitter in his final appearance in 1974, fired a three-hitter and struck out 12 Monday night as the Angels beat the Kansas City Royals with a two-run ninth-inning rally.

Earlier in the day and night, the Reds topped the Dodgers 2-1 in 14 innings, rookies Tony Scott and Gary Carter delivered key hits in the Expos' 8-4 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals and Larry Dierker pitched a four-hitter to lead the Astros to a 6-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Steve Busby of the Royals carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth inning but the Angels rallied for two runs to give their ace his opening-game win. Bruce Bochte's sacrifice fly with the bases filled and none out drove in the winning off Steve Mingori. John Mayberry had given the Royals a 2-1 lead with a homer off Ryan in the sixth.

It was Ryan's 68th big league game in which he struck out 10 or more batters, 54 of them with the Angels.

Reds 2, Dodgers 1

A record crowd of 52,526 at Cincinnati saw pinch-hitter George Foster beat out a slow roller to third with two out in the 14th inning for a single, driving in Cesar Geronimo with the winning run. The 14-inning game tied the NL record for the longest opening day game in history.

Dave Concepcion started the winning rally with a single and went to second on Steve Yeager's passed ball. Geronimo walked and Ken Griffey sacrificed. Concepcion was caught in a rundown and tagged out after Darrell Chaney's tap to the mound but then Foster beat out his slow roller.

Expos 8, Cardinals 4

Scott doubled home two runs in the eighth inning and Carter, the Expos' spring sensation, hit a three-run homer in the ninth to give Montreal its victory. Dave McNally went seven innings for the Expos to receive credit for his first NL win after 12 seasons with the AL Baltimore Orioles. Ted Sizemore had three hits for the Cardinals.

Astros 6, Braves 2

Dierker, a .500-pitcher since his 20-victory season in 1969, went the distance for Houston and Jose Cruz, making his first appearance in an Astro uniform, hit a three-run homer and two singles to hand Atlanta's Phil Niekro the loss.

The three-time world champion Oakland A's begin their quest for a fourth straight title tonight with Vida Blue, 17-15, opposing Wilbur Wood (20-19) of the Chicago White Sox.

In other AL games, the Milwaukee Brewers are at Boston, the New York Yankees at Cleveland, the Minnesota Twins at Texas and the Royals at California. The scheduled opener between Baltimore and Detroit at Detroit was postponed by inclement weather.

In the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies go against the New York Mets, the San Francisco Giants play the San Diego Padres and the Braves face the Astros.

Robby Sets 5-Year Limit

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Even before he managed his first official major league game today, Cleveland Indians' Player-Manager Frank Robinson made it known he doesn't want the job more than five years.

"After five more years, I intend to leave baseball and devote all my time to my family," said Robinson, who also reiterated that this would be his last season as an active player. "My decision is irrevocable."

Aware that the average life expectancy of a major league manager is less than five years, Robinson said even if given the opportunity to manage longer he would decline.

According to Robinson, the first black manager in professional baseball, the Tribe will play at least .500 ball this season "and if we don't play better than .500, I'll be very disappointed."

For the Indians to reach .500, they will have to pick up six more wins than last season when, at 77-85, then came in behind Baltimore, New York and Boston in the American League East.

Of their 77 victories, Gaylord Perry—who went against the Yankees' George "Doc" Medich in the season opener today— had 21 wins and his brother, Jim, 17. Fritz Peterson had nine, Dick Bosman seven and Tom Buskey two, while Fred Beene was 4-4, both working out of the bullpen.

"Pitching-wise, we have enough if everybody does his job," said Robinson, who put his players through a 90-minute workout at Municipal Stadium Monday. "I definitely feel like we could have three 20-game winners on the pitching staff in the Perrys and Peterson."

Rockets Ready For New York

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston Rockets guard Mike Newlin sounded awed just to be in the National Basketball Association playoffs against Walt Frazier, Bill Bradley and Earl Monroe tonight.

"There's something about playing New York," Newlin said, "because well, it's New York."

He said that before the tipoff in the best-of-three championship series opener at Hofheinz Pavilion against the Knicks.. But Newlin and the other Rockets are rested and saying they're ready for their first playoff appearance.

"I think in a short series, if we're going two out of three instead of four out of seven, it's better to play two at home," Rockets Coach John Egan said. "If you split the first two, you're at home for the big one."

But the home court has not meant much this season or last when the Rockets and the Knicks have met. Last season, Houston beat the Knicks four-of-six and twice in New York. The Knicks beat the Rockets three-of-four this year, two in Houston.

Egan attributed the turnaround to Monroe's return to the Knicks' lineup.

"They are just a good ballclub," he said. "It's always been hard for us to beat them. Last year they had (Dave) DeBusschere and we played them well. But now, with their high powered backcourt, we must play very good defense."

Monroe is half that backcourt Egan referred to. Frazier, the eighth leading scorer in the NBA (21.5), is the main man.

The pair has 16 years pro experience. By contrast Houston's starting five of Newlin, guard Calvin Murphy, forwards Rudy Tomjanovich and Ed Ratleff and center Kevin Kunnert have 18 years total.

"I don't think that will hurt us much," Egan said. "The last month of the season we played some pretty tense games. We did when it was do or die."

Houston won three of its last four to finish as the runnerup in the Central Division. New York, third in the Atlantic and a wild card entry to the playoffs, scrambled to finish 40-42.

Except on one occasion, a 9695 Rocket win, the Knicks had little trouble this year with Houston.

After tonight, the teams travel to New York for a game Thursday. If a third game is necessary, it will be played in Houston Saturday afternoon. The winner plays Boston in a best four-of-seven series.

West Sues Lakers, Lakers Sue West

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Jerry West, former Los Angeles Lakers basketball star, Monday filed a breach of contract suit against team owner Jack Kent Cooke and his corporation, charging them with reneging on an agreement that would have paid West more than $1 million after his retirement.

A spokesman for the Lakers confirmed that the suit was filed in Superior Court late Monday.

West, a 13-time All-Pro guard who scored more than 25,000 points during his illustrious pro career, retired from the Lakers prior to the start of the just-completed season.

"The Lakers deeply regret that Jerry West has seen fit to sue California Sports Inc., bringing a sad ending to what had been a 15-year mutually satisfactory association," the Lakers said in a statement.

A $2 million counter-suit against West was announced late Monday by California Sports Inc.

"If anyone has a right to sue for repudiation of contract and fraud, it's the Lakers, not Jerry West," a spokesman said. "We tried to avoid it, but West apparently won't listen to reason. We have no alternative but to sue West, which we will promptly do."

Denver and Indiana Heading for Collision

The Denver Nuggets and Indiana Pacers traveled in opposite directions during the American Basketball Association's regular season but they're on course for a head-on collision in the Western Conference Playoff finals.

The Nuggets, who changed everything from their management and their name to their attitude, finished with the best record (65-19) in pro basketball this season after finishing in a tie for last place in 1973-74.

The Pacers, who went so far as to take Utah to seven games in last year's Western Conference Playoff finals, suffered through a disappointing rebuilding season which included numerous trades and wholesale lineup changes. George McGinnis is the only returning starter.

Tonight, Kentucky attempts to move a step closer to its long awaited meeting with the New York Nets by playing host to the Memphis Sounds. The Colonels lead the best-of-seven series 1-0.

The Nuggets' Ralph Simpson remembers last year — the Rockets, as they were called, would be down by 10 points early in the fourth quarter and quit.

Last night they were down by 10 points early in the final period against Utah before rallying for a 126-120 win and a 2-0 advantage in their playoff series.

"Last year when we were down 10, well ...." Simpson said after combining with Bobby Jones and Mack Calvin to rally the Nuggets' 42nd home win in 44 games this year. "Tonight, I knew we had a chance, a good one. We just have that kind of team."

The Nuggets took the lead for the first time in the fourth quarter at 116-115 on a Calvin layup and after Utah tied the score at 118-118, Denver ran off eight straight points—the first four by Jones—to reach its final point total.

Simpson led Denver with 28 points, 20 in the second half, and Calvin had 27 while Mike Green added 24 and 19 rebounds. Ron Boone led Utah with 29 points and eight assists but sat out the final seven minutes with a shoulder sprain.

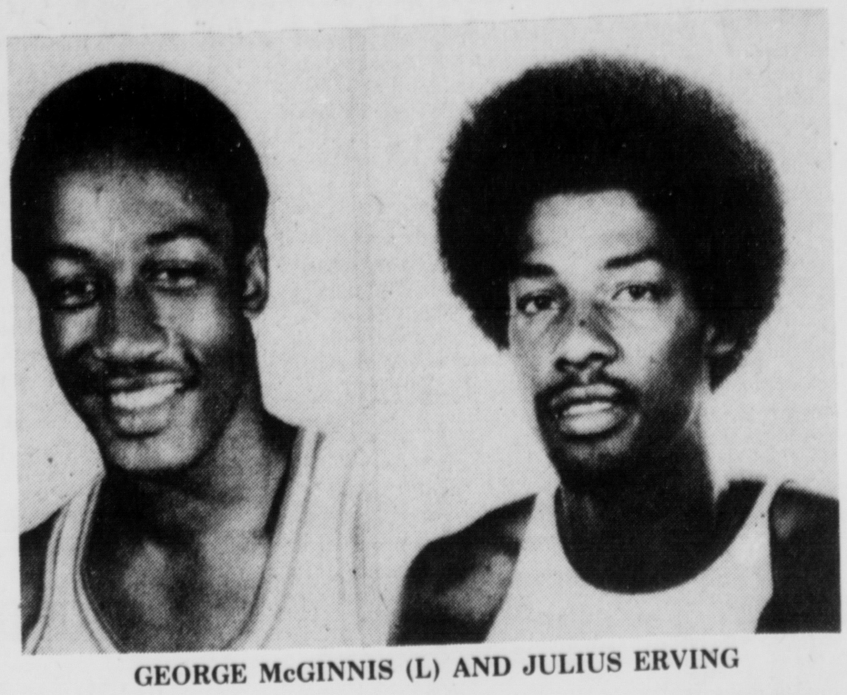
The surprising Pacers took a 2-0 edge in their ABA playoff series with the San Antonio Spurs back to Indianapolis today with a chance to clinch the series with two victories at home.

"I'm surprised," said Coach Bobby Leonard after the Pacers beat the Spurs 98-93 behind a 33-point outburst by McGinnis, the league's leading scorer.

San Antonio led 43-40 at the half and McGinnis had only three points. He added 11 in the third quarter and then exploded for 19 in the final period in a shootout with San Antonio's George Gervin, who hit 21 including three-of-four threepoint attempts.

"We took bad outside shots in the first half," Leonard said, "but in the last two quarters, we got our inside game going. George played a good second half. We didn't play that well in the first half. I'm just glad we were able to stay in it until the second half."

Billy Knight added 15 points for the Pacers while Don Buse hit 11 and pulled off two spectacular steals, and rookie center Len Elmore added 10 points and 16 rebounds.



GEORGE McGINNIS (L) AND JULIUS ERVING

Erving, McGinnis MVPs

NEW YORK (UPI)—The productive scoring punch of Indiana's George McGinnis and Julius Erving of New York throughout the season carried the two stars to their ultimate goal as the American Basketball Association's Most Valuable Players for 1974-75.

McGinnis and Erving, who finished one-two in scoring, were named league's co-MVP's Monday in balloting by writers and broadcasters covering the ABA's 10 franchise cities. Each recieved 11 votes.

Mack Calbin of the Denver Nuggets was picked on six ballots and teammate Bobby Jones collected the remaining two votes.

"I consider it a great honor to be selected and to share the MVP award with a player the caliber of George," said the high-jumping Erving who scored a career high 63 points in a four-overtime game.

"There were times this season when I did not play as I should have, but I was fortunate enough to be surroundd by a great bunch of guys with tremendous talent who carried me though some trying times."

McGinnis like Erving, signed an ABA contract before his college class graduated. He was second to Dr. J. in scoring last season.

"I'm very happy and quite honored to be selected ," McGinnis smiled when informed of the award. "Julius has been there before, but it's the first time for me. As an individual it's the top honor a player in my profession can earn. My teammates also should share the award with me."

Previous league MVP's were Connie Hawkins (Pittsburgh), Mel Daniels (Indiana), Spencer Haywood (Denver), Artis Gilmore (Kentucky) and Billy Cunningham (Carolina).

DiBiaso to Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Former Notre Dame assistant Dick DiBiaso must try to build Stanford into a Pacific Eight basketball contender despite the fact that the Cards have the lowest recruiting budget in the Pacific Eight conference.

DiBiaso, 34, Monday was tabbed from a list of 60 applicants for the head coaching job at Stanford, where he will replace Howie Dallmar, who stepped down after 21 seasons.

DiBiaso, who helped Digger Phelps coach a Notre Dame team that twice upset national champion UCLA squads, will have only $6,000 annual recruiting funds.

Dibiaso was a 1962 graduate of Mansfield (Pa.) State College, where he set career scoring and rebounding records that still stand. He coached for six years at Beacon High School in New York, during which time his teams compiled a 101-16 mark over six years. In 1968, he went to Virginia and then moved on to Notre Dame in 1971.

DiBiaso, whose annual salary will be $20,000 at Stanford, called his new job "a fantastic opportunity. It represents a chance to compete in one of the best, if not the best, conference in the country. It's an opportunity to coach at one of the truly outstanding academic institutions in the world.

"I've been interested in Stanford for many years. The caliber of student-athlete at Stanford is the type I'd like to be associated with as head coach."

Stanford faces a mammoth rebuilding job next season since 7-foot All Coast star Rich Kelley is graduating in June.

DiBiaso said he likes fast break basketball but most of all believes in adjusting the style of play to the personnel.

In announcing the appointment, Stanford Athletic Director Joe Ruetz said "Dick is one of the most impressive young men in coaching today in terms not only of coaching skill, but also in understanding the important balance between athletics and education.

"We think we have a man who'll do an outstanding job for Stanford."

Mrs. Thorpe Died

HESPERIA, Calif. (UPI) — Patricia Thorpe, widow of famed Indian athlete Jim Thorpe, died at her home Sunday of a heart attack following a long illness. She was 76.

Relay Teams Seventh

KINGSTON

Two relay teams representing the Kingston YMCA placed seventh in the girls division of the New York State YMCA Swimming Championships at Ithaca.

Making up the seventh place girls 8-and-under medley relay was the quartet of Gina Simmons, Kathy Wildblood, Ellen Tremper and Theresa Darling. The 7th place 8-under free relay team consisted of Darling, Christa Jensen, Tremper and Simmons.

Competing in the 10-and-under division, Carol Murphy placed 10th in the 50-yard butterfly; 11th in the 100-individual medley and 11th in the 100 freestyle.

Others scoring points:

14-under—Annette Mason, 12th in 200 IM; 14-under, Sue Fraser, 12th in 200 free; 14-under, Kelly McCormick, 9th in 200 IM and 10th in 100 butterfly; 14-under free relay (Kelly McCormick, Annette Mason, Beth Hickey, Sue Fraser), 11th place.

14-under Medley Relay, 11th place (Kelly McCormick, Chris Murphy, Janice Acquaviva, Annette Mason). There were 39 teams entered representing YMCA's in the state, with 1,027 individual entries and 134 relays.

Two 'B' Teams Dropped

KINGSTON — Corner Washerette has been dropped from the YMCA "B" Basketball League for accumulating two forfeits — and it may cost them dearly. First, it may cost them a trophy for a playoff berth but, most importantly, the forfeit may deprive young Mike McWeeney of the individual scoring trophy. McWeeney had 198 points up to the forfeit.

But Corner Washerette was not alone. J&G Drywall has also been dropped for two forfeits.

Just for the record, the Washerette forfeited to Sonny's Tigers and The Well Wolfpack was the recipient of the J&G forfeit.

In the games played in the "B" division, George Barnes turned in a spectacular performance for Uhl's Construction with 34 points and 34 rebounds in a 80-60 victory over Sass Electric. Artie's Bar won over Giustino's Market 87-70 depsite a 30-point effort by Cliff Schoonmaker.

Ed McDevitt led Sass Electric with 28 points and Bill Stote added 20. John Barnes had 18 for Uhl's. Stote pulled down 22 rebounds and McDevitt 18.

Bills Sign Four

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — The National Football League Buffalo Bills announced the signings of their 11th-round draft choice and three free agents Monday.

Signed were draft-pick Tom Drake, a University of Michigan cornerback, and free agents Steve Schnarr, of Otterbein College in Ohio, and Lonnie Broadnex and Lucian Moss, both of Alabama State College, a Bills spokesman said.

Four Definite In Soccer Loop

RHINEBECK — Four teams have filed applications for franchises in the newly-formed Hudson Valley Soccer League, Joel Tomson, publicity director, has announced.

The teams are Kingston Sport Club, Rhinebeck Sports Club, Saugerties Soccer Team and Poughkeepsie. Other likely entries are New Paltz, Newburgh and Peekskill.

The league is expected to be completed at a meeting scheduled April 15. Officers will be elected at that time. All teams interested in joining the league are invited to the meeting scheduled at Germania Hall on Church Street in Poughkeepsie.

The Kingston Sport Club has withdrawn from the German-American Soccer Association and its revised personnel will compete in the new league.

Seminar on Pulmonary Problems Set at Benedictine

Physicians, nurses and paramedical persons in the Mid-Hudson Valley, interested in modern-day knowledge of acute pulmonary problems, are invited to attend a seminar at Benedictine Hospital at which top-flight medical experts will speak at the day-long session which includes a panel discussion and workshop.

The program on pulmonary diseases and respiratory therapy has been arranged by Dr. David S. Gerbarg, chairman of the Department of Medicine and chairman of Medical Education Committee at Benedictine. He will welcome those attending at 9:10 a.m., Wednesday, April 16 at the Benedictine Senior Residence, according to announcement made by Medical Director Dr. John A. Olivet.

The symposium is being held in order to bring knowledge and provide a forum for physicians, nurses and paramedical personnel. It is one of three yearly teaching days held at Benedictine.

Speakers include Dr. Stephen M. Ayres, professor of medicine at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, Worcester, Mass., and physician and chief of the Department of Medicine, St. Vincent's Hospital, Worcester, Mass. He will speak concerning Medical Management of Acute Pulmonary Problems in the Intensive Care Unit."

Dr. Ayres has co-authored numerous books and is well published with 84 bibliographies and 41 abstracts to his credit.

Another speaker will be E. Leslie Chusid, director of pulmonary division and director the respiratory care unit, Booth Memorial Medical Center, Flushing, L.I. He will speak concerning "Use of ventilation equipment in managing pulmonary problems, acute subacute and chronic." Dr. Chusid is associate clinical professor of medicine at Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York City and serves as a consultant.

The third speaker will be Dr. Robert P. Leather, assistant surgeon, Albany Medical Center. His topic will be "Surgical Management of Acute Pulmonary Problems."

Local physicians and medical personnel participating in the panel discussions and question and answer period include: Dr. Gerbarg, Dr. Mansoor Hakim, chairman of the Anesthesia Department and director of the Respiratory Therapy Department at Benedictine. Also, Hamlet Montero, technical director, Respiratory Therapy Department at Benedictine.

Participating in the planning of the seminar are: Dr. Olivet, Dr. Gerbarg, Dr. Stephen M. Adalman, Dr. Joseph J. Conrad, Dr. David J. Hall, Dr. Martin Melnick, Dr. Lewis M. Neproent, Dr. George A. Wootan, Dr. Jonathan Wong, Dr. Yulin Yao, Sister Gabrielle, director of nursing and Miss Mary Keating, RN, inservice coordinator, all on the Benedictine staff.

Feminist Lecture Series Continues at WWC

Newspaper reporter and editor of the literary quarterly Transatlantic Review, Dolores Klaich will be the fifth speaker in the Thursday evening feminist lecture series being sponsored by the Woodstock Women's Center. Ms. Klaich, who has also worked for Life Magazine, will speak about "Entering the Mainstream . . . " this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the Women's Center, 59A Tinker Street, Woodstock (over the Cafe Espresso).

Ms. Klaich is the author of Woman Plus Woman: Attitudes Toward Lesbianism (1974), a study of female homosexuality.

The lecture series is open to all women.

On Friday at 9 p.m., the Women's Center will sponsor a coffeehouse for women. The coffeehouse, which is run on a bi-weekly basis, frequently features live entertainment by women musicians and poets.

The next bi-monthly Flea Market at the Women's Center will be this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Women exhibitors are invited to participate and the public is welcome at the sale. Further information is available from Alice Fix, Stone Ridge.

On Sunday, Apr. 13 at 8 p.m., the Woodstock Women's Center will hold its weekly general business meeting. Meetings are open to all interested area women.

CAROLE MORRIS

Concert Slated

Chris Gallop, club president, reminds Zontians to note the change in location for the luncheon.

Modeling in the show will be: Barbara Wise, Gloria Brueckner, Maxine Goodheim, Fashiontime Models; Zontian Kay Sullivan. Bonnie Perlmutter will be commentator.

HVP Plays Carnegie Hall

CLAUDE MONTEUX

Frederic Chopin Awards for Monteux and Schuller

By Dorothy A. Narel

Hudson Valley's Philharmonic Orchestra not only achieved new musical heights with its first performance in New York City's Carnegie Hall Friday night, April 4, but Musical Director Claude Monteux was also honored with the presentation of The Frederic Chopin Award by the Polish Cultural Society of America. The award was given in recognition of Monteux's contribution to the music world.

The concert, given as a tribute to the conductor's late father, Pierre Monteux, who had led virtually every great orchestra in the world, drew devoted Philharmonic fans from the Hudson Valley as well as many dignitaries including Congressman Hamilton Fish and a repr esentative from the Polish Consulate.

Also honored with the Frederic Chopin Award was composer-conductor Gunther Schuller whose "Four Soundscapes" had its New York premiere that night also. It was a work commissioned by the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society for the occasion.

In a recent interview, Claude Monteux told an area reporter that the orchestra, now in its 16th year, was "gearing up for its biggest appearance to date." He was referring, of course, to the Carnegie Hall Centennial Celebration honoring his father. He also stressed that while he felt the Hudson Valley Philharmonic was on a par with orchestras in New Haven and Buffalo, no one in the group had the attitude to "conquer New York."

But Hudson Valley residents can and should take pride in the fact that not only did the orchestra perform well, it received a standing ovation from a near capacity Carnegie Hall house. The New York City program offered enrichment with such works as Vincent D'Indy's "Symphony No. 2 in B flat," works by Ravel and Stravinsky and the featured appearance of world famous violinist Ruggiero Ricci, a protege of the elder Pierre Monteux.

Claude Monteux took three bows at the conclusion of the D'Indy Sympphony. The orchestra gave him the needed cohesive, solid yet smooth tones for this work. Not as well known as D'Indy's "Symphony on a French Mountain Air," the work, nevertheless has been described as "noble in conception" and is a recommended study for symphonists.

Violinist Ricci's brilliant virtuosity in Ravel's "Tzigane" overwhelmed the audience. Ricci acknowledged a sustained ovation by taking on the demanding challenge of playing Paganini's "God Save the Queen for Unaccompanied Violin" as an encore. It was a combination of technical wizardry and good music.

If Ricci's purpose was to amaze and electrify his audience — he succeeded. In the Paganini work, which we Americans recognize as the familiar "My Country 'Tis of Thee," Ricci played at least eight variations on a theme, each one more difficult than the preceding one.

In Gunther Schuller's "Four Soundscapes," he combined his own memories and impressions of the Hudson Valley into audio-poetry. Schuller admits the paintings of George Innes, most prominent member of the "Hudson River School of Painters" influenced him in his "sketches." And, in his own unique style, Schuller gave a sensitive interpretation to his contemporary "Soundscapes," successfully weaving moods, sights and sounds into an interesting musical work of art.

As a conductor, Schuller drew the needed intensity and artistry from the orchestra demonstrating his abilities in that direction as well.

The Philharmonic concluded with Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite." It was the composer's first major musical endeavor and for Monteux and the HVP it reaped a standing ovation.

Claude Monteux, who will be leaving the Hudson Valley Philharmonic this spring, is reported to be moving to Maine with his wife and children. He is planning to work with the Pierre Monteux School of Conducting there in Hancock. An outstanding flautist himself, he will be conducting flute master workshops also.

Monteux is also booked for a series of three New York Haydn Festival Orchestra concerts. These will be given in cooperation with the Young Concert Artists, Inc.

To Meet Thursday

The Lades Auxiliary of John N. Cordts Hose Company No. 8 will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the engine house on Delaware Avenue, Kingston. All members are urged to attend to discuss plans for a penny social to be held in June.

Finian's Rainbow to Open in New Paltz

John Price (L), director, watches as Lita Gonzalez and Paul Assion go through their paces at a rehearsal for Finian's Rainbow, the popular show set by the Ninety Miles Off Broadway group in New Paltz. The vehicle will open at 8:30 p.m. April 10 at New Paltz High School with other performances April 11 and 12 as well as a Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock on April 13. Tickets may be obtained at the Little Red House of Gifts, Main Street, New Paltz. Early reservations are advised.

Faculty Play For Scholarship Awards

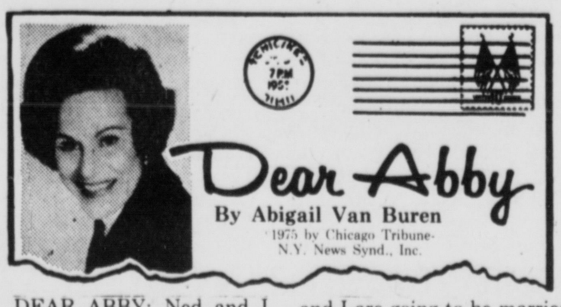
Once again the Rondout Valley Teachers Association is producing a faculty play to raise money for scholarship awards. Continuing a long tradition (this is the 12th production in 13 years), the RVTA decided this year to delve into the nostalgia craze. "Love Rides the Rails—Or—Will the Mail Train Run Tonight?" is a revival of the very first faculty dramatic presentation, n 1962. Hal Ross, who plays the villain's sidekick, recreates his original role.

The melodrama (with music) concerns a villain who owns the bank which holds the mortgage on the house of the poor widow and her beautiful daughter, who is in love with the hero but desired by the villain. It promises to be a typical melodrama, right down to the climatic rescue on the railroad tracks!

Tickets can be purchased at the high school. Thursday, Apr. 10 is bargain night—$1.50 for students and senior citizens, $2 for adults, and $2.25 for special seats. On Friday and Saturday, student and senior citizens admission will be $2, adult tickets $2.50 and $2.75 for special seats.

RVTA Members at Rehearsal

Dirk Sneath, portrayed by Hal Ross, spurns the amorous advances of French maid Fifi, played by Pat Gaspar, as the cast for the Rondout Valley Teachers Association production, "Love Rides the Rails — Or — Will the Mail Train Run Tonight?" readies itself for the April 10 opening.



DEAR ABBY: Ned and I have been married for seven years, and we have one child. Our marriage is far from perfect, but it's a lot better than most.

My biggest problem is that Ned loves to tickle me. Now, please don't laugh, Abby, because it's not funny. I mean, Ned holds me down, and tickles my ribs and the bottoms of my feet until I am screaming and nearly hysterical.

Ned also likes to tickle our little girl, and she doesn't like it either.

I've begged Ned to stop this tickling business, but he insists that it's all in fun—that people enjoy laughing, so I shouldn't get angry with him.

What is your opinion?

TICKLED (NEARLY TO DEATH)

DEAR TICKLED: Ned may not know it, but "tickling" is an ancient form of torture. If he continues to tickle you, knowing that you dislike it, he is being intentionally sadistic.

Tickling one beyond his ability to tolerate it may appear to be a "harmless" game—all in fun—but in reality it's downright cruel.

DEAR ABBY: My husband left me three years ago. At first I thought he would come back, but he never did. I was seven months pregnant at the time.

He just took off,and I never heard from again. To tell you the truth, I don't even know if he's living of dead. And I wouldn't have the foggiest notion where to look for him.

Now for my big problem: I met a guy who loves me, and wants to marry me and adopt my child. I want to marry him, but how can I get married hwwn I am not even divorced?

All the lawyers around here talk double talk. Isn't there a mail-order divorce I can send for?

OUT IN THE BOONDOCKS

DEAR OUT: Sorry, a mail-order divorce wouldn't be worth the paper it was printed on, so forget it. Look around for a lawyer who talks single, if you want to BE single which is absolutely necessary before you can get married again.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are going to be married this June. She will graduate from high school the end of May. We would like to know if it would be proper to send graduation and weddings announcements in the same envelope? It would save time and money.

And can we kill two birds with one stone and send one thank-you note for graduation and wedding gifts?

WONDERING IN N.W.

DEAR WONDERING: The graduation and wedding announcements should be sent separately. And so should the thank-you notes.

DEAR ABBY: Student, Henry County Sr. High McDonough Ga., wrote "I have learned to love according to character, not color."

If the late Martin Luther King Jr. (himself a Georgian) were alive today, he would have been proud. For he once said: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character."

Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife, Cora Crawford Jackman, who passed away April 8, 1970.
Like the falling leaves,
The years drift by
But the memories of you
Will never die
But in my heart you'll always stay
Loved and remembered every day.
Husband

Memoriam

In loving memory of George Baxter, who passed away five years ago today, April 8, 1970.
We miss you now,
Our hearts are sore,
As time goes by,
We miss you more,
Your loving smile,
Your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed,
Wife and Children

Memoriam

In loving memory of Clarence Simmons on his birthday, April 5.
We love you Dad
We always will
Your home was with us
We wish it was still
You were a wonderful Father, so kind
Therr was no one on this earth like you we could find,
To some you may be forgotten
To others part of the past
To us who have loved and lost you
Your memory will always last.
Missed sadly by
Daughters and Son

Hearing Loss is not a Sign of Old Age

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 9652, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria Street, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Priced Right . . . for a young family. This 3 bedroom home has been well maintained & is in move-in condition — modern kitchen, dining area, large living room & fenced yard, Saugerties schools.

4 bedroom home . . . 2 full baths —large living room, eat-in kitchen, full basement, detached garage, situated on a nicely landscaped ONE ACRE parcel in the town of Saugerties. See it now.

$35,000

Unique . . . best describes this property. If you would like to enjoy country living, but also desire income from your investment, perhaps this is for you. The main building offers a comfortable & pleasant 2 bedroom living accommodation featuring a lovely fireplace in living room & a modern & spacious kitchen, in addition there is an attractive apartment with modern kitchen & bath, spacious living room & balcony bedroom, within the building there is additional space partially finished which would create another large apartment, there is also a separate cottage on the property hich needs considerable work. Situated on a ¾ acre site, inspection by appt.

$47,900

No . . . you haven't seen this house yet, but, you can be the first, if you call now. Transferred owner offers this lovingly cared for home, just 3 years old, featuring charm, excellent location, spaciousness & much more. Lovely eat-in kitchen with custom cabinets, built-in appliances & attractive decor, formal dining room, spacious living room, large master bedroom + 3 more bedrooms, family room with fireplace, 1½ baths, laundry room, 2 car garage, many extras. Beautiful wooded lot in Blue Mountain.

DEAR FRIEND

With the impending increased cost of gasoline or gas shortage, it is only natural that a car like a TOYOTA or VOLVO may be just what you need.

Why not come for a test drive? Feel the luxurious pleasure of performance; the feeling of safety and roominess and enjoy the satisfaction of the savings for the tremendous values built into these cars.

Thank You

Your Astrograph

For Monday, April 14, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't rely on flattery to gain your ends today. If your compliments are insincere, they'll be detected by the recipient.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Put a limit on what you plan to spend at this time for items or activities outside of your normal needs, or you'll get carried away.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a tendency today to dissipate your small importance. Sight on worthwhile targets only.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A problem can be avoided with one you're fond of by not expecting the other party to jump every time you snap your fingers.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's not the time to rehash something a friend did in the past to perturb you. Let bygones be bygones.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The co-operation you need from someone will be denied you. Through other circumstances, what you hope to accomplish will be gained.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll have more success with plans today if you deal with the top man instead of going through subordinates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to dominate the social scene today. Allow others in your company and opportunity to occupy the spotlight, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In order to keep peace on the home front a compromise will be called for. Center-ground will be the safest spot.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A task that you can normally handle with ease will develop some unexpected problems today. Be careful and patient.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're sharing something pleasurable with friends today, be sensible about dividing the costs. Let each pay his portion.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be overly anxious about the outcome of an important event and do something impulsive. It will be okay if allowed to run its course.

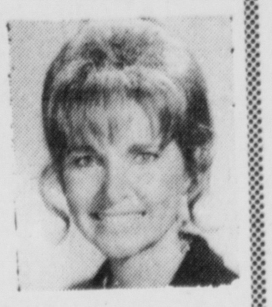
Jean Adams TEEN FORUM



FOR POT: (Comment) We don't wish to put you down but we think you should try smoking pot before you pass judgment. Don't be afraid of dying on one "hit." The worst thing that could happen is that you'll have a good time. — Three Freaks in Massachusetts

(A.) Your letter is typical of some I receive. But I get more letters like the next two.

My stand on marijuana and stronger drugs continues to be: Why abuse one's body when the evidence indicates that the price, in one way or another, is likely to be very high?

AGAINST POT: (Comment) My brother has been smoking pot for four years. He believed there was no harm in it.

Last week he was admitted to a hospital for possible brain damage. Now he realizes (when it's too late) that pot can be dangerous.

Please print this so "14 in Delaware" and the kids in his school can see what pot can really do to you. — A Victim in the Virgin Islands.

SHE PAID: (Comment) Smoking won't make you sick? I was one of a group of teen-age pot smokers. Then a girl in the crowd got pregnant. Her baby was premature and deformed and had to have two operations.

I hope that before "14 in Delaware" lights another joint he will think about what could happen and won't light it.

Two Key Plays Make Slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There is no way to know just how good a bridge player the late Joseph E. Cain of Indianapolis would have been, if he had been able to devote more than a very small part of his time to the game.

Opening lead — J ♥

Here is a hand he played, when the team of Welch, Buck, Wood and Cain won the open team championship in 1935. Larry Welch was a trifle out of place on that team — his name was too long.

Joe didn't have much of a two bid and Edson Wood had to scrape the bottom of the barrel to find a positive response. Joe used the new Blackwood convention to get to the spade slam.

Hearts were opened and continued and at trick three Joe made the first key play to let him make the slam. He led the Jack, not the five of clubs to dummy's queen.

Next came the 10 of spades from dummy. East played low and Joe was careful to play his nine. This made it possible for dummy's eight to hold the next spade trick so he could finesse for the third time.

Joe pulled the lst trump and led his king of clubs. When Easter showed out Joe was able to lead that five spot he had preserved, finesse dummy's nine and make his optimistic slam.

Happy Families Greet Their Adopted Children

By United Press International

Patrick, 5, and Michael, 6, arrived in Hudson Falls, N.Y., and one quickly asked: "Are there any VC here?"

"I told them you can run and play here and not worry about the Viet Cong," said Nora Collins, who with her husband, Robert, have adopted the boys.

At least 1,200 war orphans from South Vietnam, most of them infants, are in the process of beginning a new life with American parents.

Thousands of other children were waiting in Saigon for flights to the United States and other countries. Their fate was in doubt today because of a 24-hour curfew and the sealing off of Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport following the bombing of the presidential palace.

An Overseas National Airways flight of 287 refugee children winged toward a PDT touchdown at Travis AFB. It had been preceded Monday night by an Air Force jet carrying 65 orphans.

About 20 percent of the infants who have arrived so far in Northern California needed treatment for dehydration, diarrhea and other minor disorders that resulted from the 26-hour, 10,000-mile flight from their homeland.

"There have been no rare or bizzare or tropical diseases among the orphans," said Dr. S. Alex Stalcup, who was one of the many volunteer doctors working with the arrivals at a converted Army garage in San Francisco's Presidio.

"What we have found is the garden variety of illnesses, nothing different from what you'd find in the family pediatrician's office."

Most of the children were being processed through the Presidio within 24 hours so as to be united with their new families as quickly as possible.

There was much happiness and some disappointments during the childrens' arrivals throughout the country.

In Detroit, one woman burst into tears when told the child assigned to her hadn't arrived. At the same airport, Tamara McKay, 6, sang and danced to a bright red station wagon because she had a new brother, Lam Thach Huyuh.

"We got a little boy! We got a little boy!" she said of Lam, who at age 9 was one of the older children airlifted out of Saigon.

Actor Yul Brynner and his wife, Jacqueline, were in their Boston home when word arrived that their adopted Vietnamese girl had landed safely and was in San Francisco.

"I'm going to be a father once again," he said. "We're overjoyed. We're very happy."

In Piedmont, Calif., an 11-year-old blind Vietnamese girl, Thuy, became the 18th child of Robert and Dorothy Debolt.

Mrs. Debolt called their new child a "beautiful, beautiful little girl," and said the family is now awaiting the arrival of a 19th family member, Lee, 13, a Vietnamese boy suffering from polio.

Virginia Thorsen, Salt Lake City, served as an escort on one of the airlifts and said it was both a happy and sad experience.

"I'll never forget it in my whole life; that's for sure."

Strolling With Stepmother

Rebels Continue Assault Near Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebels battered Phnom Penh's tattered defenses from three sides today and advanced to within 3½ miles of the city's vital airport. Insurgents battled government troops in the streets of a provincial capital 25 miles to the west.

Cambodia's new president, Saukam Khoy, vowed meanwhile the government would never surrender to the insurgents, even if the United States cuts off all military aid.

The American evacuation of embassy personnel and airlift of food, fuel and ammunition continued despite stepped up rocket and artillery fire on Ponchentong Airport, the capital's sole supply link with the outside world.

A Cambodian Air Force C123 was hit during one barrage and two Cambodian pilots injured.

Official sources said the provincial capital of Kompong Speu, 25 miles west of the capital, was completely surrounded and street battles had broken out among the rebels and the 500 government troops trapped inside.

The troops were being resupplied by airdrops.

The sources said about 25,000 residents were also trapped in the town.

The rebels pummeled government positions along the northwest defense perimeter of the capital with mortar and artillery fire and penetrated to within 3½ miles of the airport, putting the facility within extreme range of their heavy mortars.

On the eastern front, the insurgents pounded government troops less than two miles from Phnom Penh, on the east bank of the Mekong River. The government has given up all but a 3½-mile portion of the east bank of the river.

The rebels also increased pressure on the government outpost at Svay Rolum, 7 miles southeast of the capital.

The southern front has recently come under heavy attack since government troops were shifted from positions there to more critical points on the defense perimeter.

Saukam Khoy, who took over when Marshal Lon Nol left the country last week for selfimposed exile, pledged a fight to the end despite the increasingly grim situation.

"If we receive military aid, everything will be all right," he said in an interview Monday. "But there will be no surrender. We will resist until we have victory."

In other developments, Prime Minister Long Boret was scheduled to arrive later today from Bangkok, where he had stopped on his way back from escorting Lon Nol into exile.

Fireworks at Oil Conference

PARIS (UPI) — The United States tried today to avoid a head-on clash with Algeria that could damage an historic meeting of oil-producing and oil-consuming countries.

The Algerians, who have been the tiger in the oil producers' tank for some time now, demanded at Monday's opening session that the 18-nation conference discuss all raw materials and not just oil.

The balding, bespectacled Algerian delegate Ait Chellal told a press conference it was high time the underdeveloped countries took their place in the limelight.

"This conference must certainly not be exclusively reserved for the problems of energy," Chellal said. "It must take up the ensemble of raw materials and international cooperation and development.

"We can hardly be expected to be concerned about Sunday driving bans and lowering room temperatures when millions of people are starving."

Charles W. Robinson, the chief American delegate, insisted in his opening speech that raw materials were too big a subject for the current conference to handle and should be delegated to another meeting.

"We have more than enough to handle with the energy problem," Robinson said. He suggested as a compromise that a special session of the United Nations take up raw materials in September.

But after Chellal spoke, an American official said that although "we can't take on all the problems of resources, we have no reason to believe we're not going to reach a compromise solution" at the current meeting.

The conference brings together the United States, Japan and the nine-nation European Common Market, representing the consumers; Algeria, Iran, Saudi Arabia and Venezuela, representing the producers; and Brazil, India and Zaire (the former Belgian Congo), representing the underdeveloped countries.

They are charged with drawing up an agenda and an invitation list for a major conference on energy problems —and possibly other raw materials problems as well — to be held later this year, probably in Paris in July.

American delegates did verbal handsprings to explain away the statement Sunday on British independent television by Thomas O. Enders, the deputy delegate, that the United States wants to "hasten the demise" of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Robinson said the United States was "not out to destroy OPEC. We clearly have to work with OPEC in a cooperative, constructive way."

CIA Ship Will Try To Finish Its Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The CIA spy ship Glomar Explorer will try to finish retrieving a sunken Soviet submarine this summer because the first effort provided such an intelligence windfall, including atomic warheads and the personal journal of a Russian nuclear weapons expert, the Los Angeles Times reported Monday.

The body of the expert, with a two-inch-thick book of notes, was recovered from the submarine along with two nuclear-tipped torpedoes, the newspaper said.

The salvage crew was threatened at one point by radioactivity because the nuclear weapons had leaked and contaminated parts of the sub, the report said.

The Times said the Glomar Explorer, the ship built under the cover of being a deep sea mining vessel operated by Howard Hughes, is scheduled to return this July to the site 750 miles north of Hawaii where the Russian sub sank in 1968 to retrieve the rest of it, including a nuclear armed missile.

Even before the project's cover was blown, Soviet trawlers kept watch on the site, the Times said, and crewmen described how the Russian ships observed the recovery operation, moving in close enough for the crews to exchange insulting hand gestures.

The Times quoted intelligence sources and sources with independent knowledge of the project, including at least one member of the ship's crew.
